CAMPBELL, FREW & CO.

SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 17. In his leading editorial yesterday quite prepared to begin with the speakmorning, we consider that Mr. Lamb virtually yields the contest. He scat-ning through four or five minutes. In ters and wastes his fire on matters of a order to perfect the report he, personal and unimportant character. The only thing in the article that it seems necessary to notice is the loop asked him to supply the deficiency, seems necessary to notice is the loop hole he endeavors to reserve, that admitting that he advocated the disfranchisement of rebels, he meant that his measures should apply to the "leading rebels" only.

In regard to this we submit that whatever force this distinction might have the request, and was subsequently furnished with a copy of his entire remarks—that is, of the remarks furnished by him as his opening, and of the remainder taken down by the re-

have if we were dealing with rebels in Gergia, it has none whatever in this quoted by us yesterday, was copied latitude. We all recognize that in the from Mr. Lamb's own MS. of his Southern States where the politicians opening remarks. The extract immemould the mass of the people to their purposes, and where secession came like purposes, and where secession came like the leaders. a tide there was no resisting, the leaders who inculcated and inaugurated rebel- of the first page of shorthand notes, lion are the guilty parties, and the masses where it must have been written at who were dragged or driven into it by least ten or fifteen minutes affear of their lives and property, are comparatively innocent; buthere there the commencement of Mr. are no such innocent rebels—none who were rebels under compulsion. Here they were in effect—those who went off was what Mr. Lamb really said. The they were in effect—those who went off and joined the rebel array—all leaders. So far from being driven to the act they made sacrifices, left home and friends, and took their lives in their hands in their traitorous zeal to overthrow the Government. What reason can be assigned for excepting any such men up-signed for excepting any such men up signed for excepting any such men unless all are to be excepted? What the 'leading rebels' did in the South all our rebels, whom this amendment of course, is willing to stand by the parour rebels, whom this amendment of course, is wifing to sain a synthematical will exclude, did here; so that practical agraph written out by himself, and the reporter stands by what he took down though and Mr. Lamb's loop-hole avails him nothing.

and says that in that paragraph (quoted as third in yesterday's article the word "leading" before "rebels" referred to by Mr. Lamb as having been the word the word "leading" before "rebels" referred to by Mr. Lamb as having been the word "leading" before the word "leading" befo political power by any of those who have borne arms against us (and we not appear in the original reporter's conceive there is a great deal of force in manuscript, and in the confident opinthem) he must stand by his original pothem) he must stand by his original po-sition that this element is inimical to our people and State, and that (as he eyen now confesses) they cannot be dis-eyen now confesses) they cannot be diseven now confesses) they cannot be dis-criminated between but must be dealt with as a whole, or he must admit that he abandons the whole ground he arms of the party which fully into the arms of the party which absorbs and was designed to absorb this rebellions element. We regret to note in his editorials of that Mr. Lamb, in reterring to the editors of this paper, alterring to the editors of this paper, to show itlows a feeling of acrimony to show itself. If he feels that he has again placed it necessary to trouble our readers with a matter of so little actual moment. fore the public, we can understand that ne might be excusable for entertaining a feeling of this sort, though we should hardly expect that he would so far forget his accustomed good temperas to allow it to be seen. In this discussion we have not consciously felt and we trust have not shown the least temper. We have sought to speak, as we have felt, with perfect respectfulness of the gentleman whose course we have felt constrained to criticise. We have spoken solely of his publicacts and think we may claim to have done so fairly and dispassionately. There is no one, friend or foe politically, towards whom we entertain kindler or more reectful feelings than Mr. Lamb; and have a high admiration; but we think we are sufficiently acquainted with his course as a public man, to say that whenever he touches questions political in their nature, the great sagacity which he brings to bear upon other matters deserts him and he wanders after strange idols, and quickly falls into the snares of less able and less honestmen. We are content that the public shall judge whether the justification of his present course rests with Mr. Lamb, or whether the proof of his apostacy rests

The Hilliary Claims of West Virginia in Congress.

His Excellency, Governor Boreman, hus returned from Washington City; and we learn feels confident that the and we learn feels confident that the military claims of this State against the Government, to which reference was made in this column a short time since, will be allowed by Congress. The matter was duly represented to the appropriate committees of the two Houses, and the papers and vouchers placed in the hands of the military committee of the senate. It is believed that their report will be favorable.

The claim of Missouri, similar to our own, is now before Congress, and its own is now before Congress, and its fate will probably determine the fate of ours. The Missouri bill has passed the Senate and is now in the House. The same measure, it will be recollected, passed the Senate at the last session, but was lost in the House by tacking on the claim of Pennsylvania. There is danger that it may be destroyed again in the same way; but we learn that Mr. Stevens, of Pennsylvania, has reported on it favorably from the appropriation committee, and unless it is strangled by an attempt to hitch on the claim of some other State, it will pass. The merits of the claims of this State are identical with those of the claims of Missouri; and if the bill allowing the latter passes through Congress there is very good ground to hope that a bill allowing this State the three hundred and odd thousand dollars expended in putting down the rebellion, will also SENATOR SAULSBURY, of Delaware, the real and the pretended Union men putting down the rebellion, will also appeared on the floor of the Senate on Wednesday last in a beastly state of intoxication, and had to be taken out THE REBEL DEBT .- Mr. Rogers, of New Jersey, in his speech in Congress, complained bitterly of the measures for by two Senators. So says a Washington letter.

complained bitterly of the measures for prohibiting payment of the rebel debt:

Mr. Kelley inquired what debt the States were prevented from paying.

Mr. Rogers—It is proposed to-day to prohibit the payment of the rebel debt. Such a measure is the very emblem and quintessence of despotism and tyranny.

The Pittsburg Chroniela congraturates the inhabitants of the smoky city that the price of gas in that city is lower than at any other place in the United States, being one dollar and ninety cents per thousand feet, government tax included.

The Senate has entire control and final adjudication in regard to the conduct as well as the qualifications of its members, and is responsible to its own dignity as well as to the public opinion of the world, for its tolerance of disprace of sending a vulgar sot to the United States Senate resis upon the copperhead legislature by which a minority of the people of Delaware control the politics of that State. But the disgrace of his continuance there, after yesterday's scene, will fall upon the Senate, which has the power to put an end to it, at any hour, by expelling a member who has repeatedly disgraced it.

MR. Rich, of the Boston Commercial Birs of gossip about the young Prince Imperial are floating through Paris.
